The Lake District became a World Heritage Site in July 2017 joining iconic locations such as the Taj Mahal, the Great Barrier Reef and Grand Canyon as a place of international acclaim.

The Lake District National Park now a UNESCO World Heritage site holds the title within the cultural landscape category.

The Park welcomes over 19 million visitors a year and set to grow as momentum builds with the new international status.

Our Vision

- The Lake District will be an example of sustainable development in action. A place where its prosperous economy, world class visitor experiences and vibrant communities come together to sustain the spectacular landscape, its wildlife and cultural heritage.

Our Mission

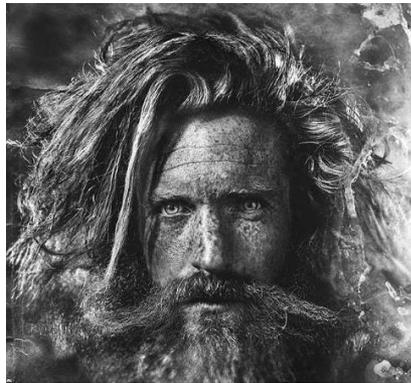

- We will do this by:
- Raising funds and distributing them to effective projects that share our goals.
- Working in partnership to access new income streams.
- Being open to innovation and emerging areas of business where they support delivery of our vision.

Sean became the first person to cycle, swim, and run the length of Great Britain, from Land's End to John o'Groats.

In 2016 he completed the world's longest triathlon, a 4,200 mile journey around the coast of Britain.

2018 he set a new world record for the fastest crossing of Europe by bicycle from Portugal to Russia in 24 days covering 4,000 miles.

Home now is the Lake District National Park, of which he is passionate about and is the perfect base to train for his next adventure.

Ambassador Kate Rawles

A former university lecturer, first in environmental philosophy and then outdoor education,

Kate now works freelance. Her overall aim is to help deliver a massive wake up call: raising awareness and inspiring effective, intelligent action on some of our most urgent environmental challenges. She has lectured at numerous universities and organisations and is a powerful and popular public speaker.

Kate set up and runs Outdoor Philosophy courses, using the power of wild places to support personal and professional positive action on environmental sustainability and to explore all important questions about values and worldviews, particularly in relations to humans and the natural world.
